Introduction

The English Language Proficiency Assessments for California (ELPAC) is the state’s English language proficiency (ELP) test for students in kindergarten, which includes year one of a two-year kindergarten program, known as transitional kindergarten, through grade twelve. The ELPAC currently consists of two separate assessments: the Initial ELPAC, which is used to assess ELP for initial identification of new students as either an English learner who needs support to learn English or as proficient English, and the annual Summative ELPAC, which is used to measure students’ progress toward ELP and to determine whether they are ready to be reclassified.

The ELPAC Interim Assessments are optional, shorter ELP tests, compared to the Summative ELPAC. The purpose of the ELPAC Interim Assessments is to support teaching and learning by providing timely and instructionally relevant information about a student’s progress toward ELP. They will consist of two sets of interim assessments. Each set has four individual domain-based tests (i.e., Listening I or II, Speaking I or II, Reading I or II, and Writing I or II). The first set will be released for the 2023–24 school year, and the second set will be released in 2024–25.

The ELPAC Interim Assessment domain tests will be developed for the following seven grade levels and grade spans: kindergarten, grade one, grade two, grade span three through five, grade span six through eight, grade span nine and ten, and grade span eleven and twelve. They are aligned with the 2012 California English Language Development (ELD) Standards and assess students’ ELP skills in Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing. The ELPAC Interim Assessments will be administered online to students and is a linear test, except for kindergarten through grade two Writing domain. Each individual interim assessment is designed to fit into a standard, 50-minute class period; however, they are untimed to allow test examiners and students time to fully complete the interim assessment.

ELPAC Interim Assessment Claims

The ELPAC Interim Assessments have four claims—one claim for each domain. Table 1 shows the claim statements for the ELPAC Interim Assessments.

Table 1: ELPAC Interim Assessment Claims

Domains	Description
Listening	Educators will obtain instructionally relevant information about individual and group student progress with regard to comprehension of spoken English (conversations, discussions, and oral presentations) in a range of social and academic contexts.
Speaking	Educators will obtain instructionally relevant information about individual and group student progress with regard to expressing information and ideas orally and participating in grade-level conversations and group and class discussions.
Reading	Educators will obtain instructionally relevant information about individual and group student progress with regard to reading, analyzing, and interpreting a variety of grade-appropriate literary and informational texts.
Writing	Educators will obtain instructionally relevant information about individual and group student progress with regard to writing literary and informational texts to present, describe, and explain ideas and information.

ELPAC Interim Assessment Blueprint Tables

Blueprint tables for the ELPAC Interim Assessments are shown in table 2 through table 8. Each table consists of four parts: a = Listening, b = Speaking, c = Reading, and d = Writing.

The following tables are presented by grade level or grade span beginning with kindergarten and continuing through grade span eleven and twelve. Each table shows which task types are used to assess ELP for each domain for that grade level or grade span. The tables include an indication of which ELD standard(s) each task type aligns with. If the task type partially or moderately aligns with additional standards, secondary alignment is indicated. The number of items per task type in ELPAC Interim Assessment I and II is indicated, as is the number of points those items will yield for each interim domain test. A summary total of items and points for each domain is shown.
